

Yogini Dasha

Yogini dasha is applicable on all horoscopes.

This dasha comprises of eight dasha periods called Yoginis.

The eight yoginis and their ruling planets and dasha periods are,

The eight yoginis and their ruling planets and dasha periods are,

Table 1

1	Mangla	Moon	One Year
2	Pingla	Sun	Two years
3	Dhanya	Jupiter	Three Years
4	Bhramari	Mars	Four years
5	Bhadrika	Mercury	Five years
6	Ulka	Saturn	Six years
7	Siddha	Venus	Seven years
8	Sankata	Rahu	Eight years

Nakshatra

Yogini is based on the Nakshatra occupied by Moon in the birth horoscope.

Only twenty seven Nakshatra are considered.

To work out the Nakshatra, follow the method given below.

1 Convert the longitude of Moon into minutes.
(Include sign also)

2 Divide this by 800.

3. Add one to the result and it will be the Nakshatra number occupied by Moon.

4 The fraction after the decimal is the expired portion of Nakshatra.

Example

Moon is placed at 0 deg. 6 min in Virgo.
It works to 9006 min. Dividing by 800
we get 11.25.

It means that 12th Nakshatra is occupied and 0.25 part of 12th
Nakshatra is already crossed by Moon.

Dasha at Birth

To get the yogini dasha running at birth, follow the method given,

- 1 Add three to the Nakshatra number of Moon.
- 2 Expunge multiples of eight from the sum till the remainder is eight or less than eight.
- 3 The remainder number is the serial number of yogini dasha at birth. The serial number is the full dasha period of the particular yogini.

Example

The Nakshatra number is 12.

Add 3 to get 15.

Expunge 8. Remainder is 7.

The 7th dasha is Siddha.

So Siddha dasha was running at the time of birth.

Dasha balance at birth

Full dasha period of each yogini span one Nakshatra.

Thus the balance of dasha is proportional to the span of Nakshatra remaining.

Example

The part of Nakshatra already travelled by Moon is the fraction of Nakshatra as already calculated.

The part yet to be travelled is obtained by subtracting the fraction from one.

The fraction travelled is 0.25.

The balance therefor is 0.75.

The full period of Siddha dasha is 7 years.

The balance is thus $0.75 \times 7 = 5$ years 3 months.

Dasha order

The yoginis follow the dasha sequence as given in table above.

The total period of eight yoginis is 36 years.

The sequence is repeated after 36 years in the same order.

Sub periods

Each major period of yogini dasha are further divided into eight sub periods.

The major period is shared by each yogini in proportion to their major period.

The running major period keeps the first sub period for himself and the other sub periods follow in the sequence.

We thus divide each major period by 36 and multiply by the major period of sub period.

The result is the sub period in years.

A rule is to multiply the dasha periods of major lord and dasha period of sub lord.

The result is again multiplied by 10 to give sub period in days.

Example

To find sub period of Ulka in Siddha major period.

Multiply 7 (dasha period of Siddha) by 6 (dasha period of Ulka) to get 42.

Again multiply by 10 and get 420 days as the sub period of Ulka in Siddha major period.

This is 1 year 2 months.

Dasha results

For analysing the results of a yogini period, we analyse the lord of the yogini as given in table 1.

For siddha dasha we look for Venus and so on.

The discussion above is the yogini dasha described in classics and is the basis of further research.

Yogini dasha repeats every 36 years. The events and life do not repeat.

Then what is the secret of analysing this short dasha.

This query led to further investigation and this research is now given.

Method

- 1 Workout the yogini dasha at birth.
- 2 Note the Nakshatra lord of yogini at birth.
- 3 Write the yogini and Nakshatra together like Mangla/ Shravan.
- 4 Continue writing yogini and Nakshatra for next dasha in sequence for both.

5 When you reach Revati then jump to Rohini.

6 In this order you will have the Nakshatra for each yogini dasha period.

7 For any dasha recast the chart keeping Nakshatra sign as lagna/ ascendant. This is called progress lagna (PL). The progress lagna may change in some dashas as indicated in table 3.

8 The planets remain in same sign as occupied by them in birth chart.

Analysis

1 Nakshatra lord and progress lagna are very important.

2 Examine the Nakshatra lord from birth lagna and progress lagna.

3 Examine the progress lagna with respect to birth lagna.
